

David Mitchell in the Labyrinth of Time

Guest Editor:
Paul A. Harris

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction: David Mitchell in the Labyrinth of Time Paul A. Harris	3
David Mitchell in the Laboratory of Time: An Interview with the Author Paul A. Harris	8
Posthuman Temporality: Mitchell's Ghostwritten Jonathan Boulter	18
Palter & Prescience – On David Mitchell and Ghostwritten Sean Hooks	39
“A row of screaming Russian dolls”: Escaping the Panopticon in David Mitchell's number9dream Rose Harris-Birtill	55
The Sound of Silence: Eschatology and the Limits of the Word in David Mitchell's Cloud Atlas Scott Dimovitz	71

“Gravid with the ancient future”: Cloud Atlas and the Politics of Big History Casey Shoop & Dermot Ryan	92
Cannibalism, Colonialism and Apocalypse in Mitchell’s Global Future Lynda Ng	107
From Time’s Boomerang to Pointillist Mosaic: Translating Cloud Atlas into Film Jo Alyson Parker	123
Revisiting Dejima (Japan): from Recollections to Fiction in David Mitchell’s The Thousand Autumns of Jacob de Zoet (2010) Claire Larssonneur	136
David Mitchell’s Fractal Imagination: The Bone Clocks Paul A. Harris	148
PLUS
Speculative Romanticism Greg Ellermann	154
Richard Jackson: Between the Real and the Relational Magdalena Wisniowska	175
REVIEW
Social Minds in the Novel Alan Palmer Reviewed by Laurence M. Porter	192
CONTRIBUTORS	202