

Fabled Thought:
On Jacques Derrida's
The Beast & the Sovereign

Guest Editors:

Matthew Chrulew & Chris Danta

Contents

Introduction: Fabled Thought Matthew Chrulew and Chris Danta	3
Teleiopoetic World Peggy Kamuf	10
Derrida's Preoccupation with the Archive in The Beast and the Sovereign Michael Naas	20
"Might sovereignty be devouring?" Derrida and the Fable Chris Danta	37
Human Exceptionalism on the Line Vicki Kirby	50
Sovereignty's Ontological Indecision: Derrida and Heidegger on the Other Line (Between the Human and the Animals) James Phillips	68
The Monolingualism of the Human Christopher Peterson	83
Derrida and Durkheim on Suffering Melanie White	100

Zoopolitics
Patrick Llored 115
translated by M. Chrulew & B. Buchanan

“An art of both caring and locking up”:
Biopolitical Thresholds in the Zoological Garden
Matthew Chrulew 124

The Will for Self-Preservation: Locke and Derrida
on Dominion, Property and Animals
Dinesh Joseph Wadiwel 148

Sovereignty Conditioned and Unconditioned
Paul Patton 162

Drone Penalty
David Wills 174

Reviews

“Of Politics, Aesthetics, and Guilty Subjects”
An essay review of Michael T. Shapiro’s
Studies in Trans-Disciplinary Method, After the Aesthetic Turn
Reviewed by John Champagne 193

Scheie, Timothy
Performance Degree Zero: Roland Barthes and the Theatre
Reviewed by Thomas J. Armbricht 207

Contributors 212

Full Text: Project Muse
UW Press